
Investing in Development

*A Perspective on the Aga Khan Fund
for Economic Development*

Investing in Development

*A Perspective on the Aga Khan Fund
for Economic Development*

This report has been prepared by Mr. Iain Smedley (formerly a senior policy advisor at the Adam Smith Institute, London) and Dr. Greg Clark, both of the Policy Analysis Centre, London. The report is based upon research carried out by independent consultants, Mr. Graham Hartnell and Mr. Paul Culhane.

Published, January 1997

Extracts from this publication may be reproduced without further permission, with due acknowledgement.

Additional copies of Investing in Development: A Perspective on the Aga Khan Fund for Economic Development may be obtained from:
The Information Department, Aiglemont, 60270 Gouvieux, France.
Fax: (33) 03 44.57.97.17

Contents

| | | |
|-------------|--|-----------|
| | Introduction | 5 |
| I | The Aga Khan Fund for Economic Development The Aga Khan Development Network History and origins of AKFED How AKFED works AKFED's guiding principles | 6 |
| II | Economic policy in the developing world: towards an enabling environment | 14 |
| III | Private initiative and development priorities Development agencies and private initiative International standards, local style: Serena Hotels (Kenya, Tanzania) Foundation for success: Housing Development Finance Corporation (India) | 17 |
| IV | A return to private ownership: privatisation Turnaround in Tanzania: Moshi Leather Industries Net gain: Uganda Fishnet Manufacturers | 23 |
| V | The emerging global economy Hides and exports: Leather Industries of Kenya | 28 |
| VI | Finance for development: capital markets Tradition and innovation: Development Credit Bank (India) Safeguarding success: Jubilee Insurance (Kenya, Uganda) | 31 |
| VII | The application of technology Export sales in the bag: Filtisac (Côte d'Ivoire) A package of technology and expertise: Allpack (Kenya) | 34 |
| VIII | Building human capital: training and education Switching to high technology: Alcatel Pakistan | 38 |
| IX | Agro-industry support: farmers and export markets Beans can add value: Frigoken (Kenya) | 41 |
| X | Making development sustainable: the physical and human environment Architecture of traditional comfort: Zanzibar Serena Inn Culture survives with tourism: Serena Hotels (Pakistan) Working with the environment: Serena Hotels (Tanzania) | 45 |
| XI | Across national frontiers: regional integration A modern institution built on a traditional base: Diamond Trust Bank (Kenya, Tanzania, Uganda) | 51 |
| XII | Trends in development: an AKFED perspective | 54 |
| | Footnotes | 59 |